Kansas City Life Insurance Company recorded net income of $35.7 million or $3.01 per share for the year ended December 31, 2007, a decrease of $1.3 million from the prior year. The decline in earnings for the year was a result of reduced insurance and investment revenues, along with increased income tax expense.

Total insurance revenue declined largely as a result of lower contract charges from reduced balances of life and annuity deposit products. However, the Company’s new sales of life insurance products increased for the year. Total new insurance premiums increased 1%, and total new deposits increased 8% for the year. New insurance premiums increased primarily due to a 3% increase in new individual life sales and a 13% increase in new immediate annuity sales. The increase in new deposits resulted from a 7% increase in new universal life sales, a 5% increase in new variable universal life deposits and a 37% increase in new variable annuity sales.

Kansas City Life’s investment revenues declined due to lower net investment income for the year. Net investment income decreased 3% compared to the prior year. This decline was driven by lower invested asset returns during the year, which was primarily the result of increased surpluses and withdrawals of insurance and annuity deposit products. The Company’s net realized investment gains for the year were $5.4 million, generated largely from real estate sales.

Benefits and expenses declined for the year in comparison to 2006. Favorable mortality experience and reduced interest credited on invested assets during the year, which was primarily the result of a 25% increase in new life insurance sales and a 37% increase in new variable annuity sales.

In 2007, the Company remained committed to continuing the sale of "Generations" the Company’s first return-of-premium term life insurance product. Other Company highlights:

- Kansas City Life continues to enhance the product portfolio to keep pace with the changing financial service needs of each generation of clients. In 2007, the Company introduced a guaranteed minimum withdrawal benefit rider that allows the field force to more fully compete with other leading insurance carriers and helps ensure predictable and sustainable retirement income for customers. In 2008, Kansas City Life will unveil other additions and enhancements to the portfolio, including the Company’s first return-of-premium term life insurance product.

- Old American Insurance Company had a very strong sales year in 2007. New premiums increased 5% in 2007 compared with 2006. Old American is continuing to build on sales momentum created by product enhancements and marketing changes to improve its competitive position.

- The Group Insurance segment is continuing an ongoing focus on increasing sales and improving financial results. The efforts include increased emphasis on direct sales by Group sales representatives rather than through third-party marketers. This shift helped drive a 49% increase in new sales of group life insurance in 2007.

In 2007, the Company remained committed to continuing the sale of "Generations" the Company’s first return-of-premium term life insurance product. Other Company highlights:

- Kansas City Life continues to have solid financial strength. The Company earned “A” ratings from A.M. Best and Standard & Poor’s, two of the nation’s leading insurance rating agencies.

- Additionally, the Company maintains a strong capital position, which gives Kansas City Life the ability to weather difficult economic cycles. As a result of this strength, the Company paid a special dividend of $2 per share to shareholders in 2007, in addition to regular quarterly dividends.

- Looking ahead, the Company remains committed to continuing the 112-year tradition of providing Security Assured and high-quality service to customers. Generations of Kansas City Life customers have benefited from the Company’s financial strength, and we look forward to serving future generations of customers as well.

Financial Highlights

For nearly 70 years, Old American Insurance Company has provided peace of mind to the senior market, helping to enhance the quality of life for policyholders and beneficiaries. The final expense products offered by Old American are designed to cover necessary costs following a death and also to provide reassurance to surviving family members that money will be available for ongoing living expenses.

Old American’s final expense products have long been appreciated by policyowners. However, the subsidiary has faced challenges during the last decade from competitors with similar offerings. In 2007, Old American experienced a positive sales year—generating 8% of the consolidated net income for all Kansas City Life Insurance Company operations.

After nearly a decade of flat or decreasing sales, Old American surged ahead in 2007, exceeding 2006 annualized sales by 18%. Unlike previous years when sales for most of Old American’s independent general agencies were flat, 63% of agencies met or exceeded their 2007 sales projections.

Contributing to the 2007 sales success were rate structure improvements in late 2006 to reward policyowners who lead healthier lifestyles. In addition, the subsidiary’s approach to lead generation has long been recognized in the industry and will continue to strengthen Old American sales.

During 2007, Old American also focused on retaining business rather than simply recruiting new customers. The subsidiary introduced customer follow-up communications and coupled them with value-added benefits to help improve customer loyalty.

Thanks to these and other enhancements, Old American produced 26% of consolidated customer revenues in 2007, the same as in 2006. The subsidiary also increased new premiums 5% in 2007, compared to a 12% decrease in 2006.

Old American is committed to delivering peace of mind through the subsidiary’s successful nationwide general agency system with exclusive territories and to evaluating additional ways to increase overall sales and customer retention. For 2008, Old American is focusing on recruiting as well as supporting improved production from existing agencies and agents.
The just-completed year was an exciting and progressive one for Kansas City Life Insurance Company and the agencies and clients who have benefited from our strength and partnered with us for generations. In 2008, we began a series of enhancements that will help us continue to prosper and grow.

Last fall we introduced FIVE Plus℠, a new guaranteed minimum withdrawal benefit (GMWB) rider that allows us to compete more effectively with other leading financial service companies. A new direction for Kansas City Life, the GMWB offers clients a predictable and sustainable retirement income with further growth possibilities, depending on market performance.

Further expanding our products and services toolbox in early 2008, Kansas City Life introduced SuperNOVA, an enhanced version of one of our most popular universal life products, and FlexWealth Advantage℠, a new universal life option to help clients take control of their money. In the months ahead, we will introduce our first return-of-premium term insurance coverage. The bottom line with all these enhancements and additions is to help our agencies better satisfy the changing financial service needs of prospective and current clients.

Additionally, Kansas City Life remains committed to continuing to provide competitive products, superior customer service, financial strength, specialized training, and superior sales and marketing support. Together these are our value proposition, which is designed to help our agencies grow their businesses.

While all these elements are critical to our ongoing success, what has set Kansas City Life apart from the competition is our relationships with our field force. These relationships are a critical reason that generations of agencies and their clients have turned to Kansas City Life over the past 112 years and why new generations of general agents, agents and their clients are now joining our strong and balanced partnership.

The Kansas City Life side of this balanced partnership is to build and fortify these relationships with our field force. For our field force, the partnership contribution isn’t the quantity of services they sell. Instead, it’s their commitment to do business with Kansas City Life. We highly value the opportunity to do business with people who appreciate doing business with us.

Partnerships. That’s what has kept Kansas City Life Insurance Company strong for generations. As we have since 1895, the Company will continue to proudly partner with agencies, policyowners and associates to deliver the Security Assured that each expects and so richly deserves. Generations of strength for today and tomorrow, too. This is Kansas City Life.

Despite volatile domestic and foreign market performance in 2007, Sunset Financial Services revenue increased 15% for the year, which compares with a 13% increase the previous year. Looking ahead to 2008 and beyond, Sunset Financial Services has laid the groundwork for increased sales and improved performance and will continue working with Kansas City Life to help recruit and retain quality agencies and producers.

Individual Insurance

Thanks to Kansas City Life Insurance Company's continuing and effective focus on life insurance products and distribution, the Company's Individual Insurance segment generated the majority of consolidated net income for 2007. These products are primarily marketed through independent general agents and agents who sell face-to-face to their clients.

The total also includes sales through two alternate marketing channels. Based on a marketing arrangement that began in 2006, American Republic Insurance Company's nearly 600 agent representatives offer Kansas City Life life insurance products to their customers. Additionally, we continue to make our life insurance products available through the agents of GuideOne Insurance Company. American Republic and GuideOne representatives are expected to continue contributing to individual life insurance sales in the future.

The Individual Insurance segment's successful year is reflected in 2007 new premiums, which increased 6% following a 27% decrease in 2006; renewal premiums, which increased 2% in 2007 as well as 2006; and new deposits, which increased 8% in 2007 after a 26% decrease in 2006. Customers showed increased interest in equity markets, which prompted a 37% increase in new variable annuity deposits in 2007 compared with a 14% decline in 2006. Also, new universal life deposits increased 7% and new variable universal life deposits increased 5% in 2007 compared with 2006. Overall, the Individual Insurance segment produced 56% of consolidated customer revenues for 2007.

Group Insurance

Kansas City Life Insurance Company's Group Insurance segment markets dental, life, short- and long-term disability, and vision insurance products primarily to small and mid-size organizations. Products are sold through Group Insurance representatives who target a nationwide network of independent general agents and group brokers and also through the Company's career general agents. By emphasizing these sales, Group Insurance's core distribution set an annualized premiums sales record of $10 million in 2007, which followed a record of more than $9 million in 2006. This is in addition to Group Insurance products sold through selective third-party marketing arrangements.

The Group Insurance segment generated 19% of the Company's customer revenues in 2007, up from 18% in 2006. Contributing to the higher customer revenues, new group life premiums increased an impressive 49% in 2007 after a 23% decrease in 2006. Policyholder benefits for Kansas City Life's group accident and health product line increased $1.0 million or 4% in 2007, largely because of an increase in group dental benefits paid.

For 2008 and beyond, the Company continues to focus on three key improvement opportunities:

1. Grow in-force premiums, particularly from the Group representative sales force.
2. Increase the use of technology to improve administrative efficiency and reduce expenses.
3. Add new products to the portfolio.

Message from the President

Kansas City Life Insurance Company recorded net income of $35.7 million or $3.01 per share for the year ended December 31, 2007, a decrease of $1.3 million from the prior year. The decline in earnings for the year was a result of reduced insurance and investment revenues, along with increased income tax expense.

Total insurance revenue declined largely as a result of lower contract charges-from reduced balances of life and annuity deposit products. However, the Company’s new sales of life insurance products increased for the year. Total new insurance premiums increased 1%, and total new deposits increased 8% for the year. New insurance premiums increased primarily due to a 3% increase in new individual life sales and a 13% increase in new immediate annuity new policies.

The increase in new deposits resulted from a 7% increase in new universal life sales, a 5% increase in new variable universal life deposits and a 37% increase in new variable annuity sales.

Kansas City Life’s investments revenues declined due to lower net investment income for the year. Net investment income decreased 3% compared to the prior year. This decline was driven by lower invested asset during the year, which was primarily the result of increased surpluses and withdrawals of insurance and annuity deposit products. The Company’s net realized investment gains for the year were $5.4 million, generated largely from real estate sales.

Benefits and expenses declined for the year in comparison to 2006. Favorable mortality experience and reduced interest credited from lower policyholder account balances accounted for a large portion of the $11.6 million decline in total benefits and expenses for the year. Lower operating expenses resulted primarily from lower compensation costs.

Income tax expense increased for the year, largely due to reduced low-income housing tax credits generated by the Company and adjustments in tax expense from earlier years.

Other Company highlights:

- Kansas City Life continues to enhance the product portfolio to keep pace with the changing financial service needs of each generation of clients. In 2007, the Company introduced a guaranteed minimum withdrawal benefit rider that allows the field force to more fully compete with other leading insurance carriers and helps ensure predictable and sustainable retirement income for customers. In 2008, Kansas City Life will unveil other additions and enhancements to the portfolio, including the Company’s first return-of-premium term life insurance product.
- Old American Insurance Company had a very strong sales year in 2007. New premiums increased 5% in 2007 compared with 2006. Old American is continuing to build on sales momentum created by product enhancements and marketing changes to improve its competitive position.
- The Group Insurance segment is continuing an ongoing focus on increasing sales and improving financial results. The efforts include increased emphasis on direct sales by Group sales representatives rather than through third-party marketers. This shift helped drive a 49% increase in new sales of group life insurance in 2007.

In 2007, the Company completed the sale of Generations Bank for $10.1 million. The sale generated a gain of $1.9 million. This sale supports the Company’s insurance-specific initiatives.

- Kansas City Life continues to have solid financial strength. The Company earned “A” ratings from A.M. Best and Standard & Poor’s, two of the nation’s leading insurance rating agencies.
- Additionally, the Company maintains a strong capital position, which gives Kansas City Life the ability to weather difficult economic cycles. As an indication of this strength, the Company paid a special dividend of $2 per share to shareholders in 2007, in addition to regular quarterly dividends.

In September, we were saddened by the death of Warren “Bill” Hunzicker, M.D., who was an active Kansas City Life Board of Directors member for 18 years and also served nearly 20 years as the Company’s vice president and medical director. Dr. Hunzicker’s leadership and counsel will be missed. Looking ahead, the Company remains committed to continuing the 112-year tradition of providing Security Assured and high-quality service to customers. Generations of Kansas City Life customers have benefited from the Company’s financial strength, and we look forward to serving future generations of customers as well.
